Hour's Time Only Was Needed

For the Jury

To Find Czolgosz Guilty of Murder

And the Wretch Will Soon be Sent to a Richly Merited Death.

The Defendants Counsel Did Not Make Much of a Defense for the Assassin of the President.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Buffalo, Sept. 25.—It is practically safe to state at this time that five weeks from next Monday, or October 28, Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley, will have been sentenced to death in the electric chair at Auburn Prison. It was deemed possible that as a matter of form his attorneys might appeal the case, but there will be no appeal and as soon as the sentence as possible Czolgosz will be taken to Auburn penitentiary, barring an unlikely exception.

RELATIVES

Of the Murderer, Czolgosz, Intend to Change Their Name.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Buffalo, Sept. 25.—Czolgosz's father, brother, Waldeck, and a sister were permitted to visit him in the jail cell. Thirty minutes was spent with the assassin who showed no emotion whatever. The family say they, as soon as possible will change their name and then remove to some other locality where they will be entirely unknown.

SWIFTLY

The Wheels of Justice Moved in the Trial at Buffalo.

Buffalo, Sept. 25.—Leon F. Czolgosz, alias Fred Nieman, was found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in Part III of the supreme court, in having on Sept. 6, shot President McKinley, the wounds inflicted after which resulting in the death of the president.

The wheels of justice moved swiftly. The trial of the assassin consumed eight hours and 26 minutes and covered a period of only two days. Practically all of this time was occupied by the prosecution in presenting a case so clear, so conclusive, that even had the prisoner entered the plea of insanity, it is doubtful if the jury would have returned a verdict different from the one rendered. The announcement made by the attorneys for Czolgosz that the eminent alienists summoned by the Erie County Bar association and by the district attorney to examine Czolgosz and to determine his exact mental condition had declared him to be perfectly sane, destroyed the only stage of a defense that Judges Lewis and Titus could have put together.

Justice White announced that he would pronounce sentence upon the defendant Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The prisoner was taken at once through the tunnel under Delaware avenue back to the jail. To all appearances he was in no way affected by the result of the trial.

After the testimony of eye witnesses to the awful tragedy had been submitted, District Attorney Penney promptly announced that the case of the prosecution was ended. Judge Lewis arose slowly and, addressing the court, said that the sudden close of the case against Czolgosz was a surprise to him and his colleague. They had no witness to call for the defense. He asked the court that he be allowed to address the jury at once. The court assented and the venerable judge began an address that will long be remembered by those who heard it. Judge Lewis said in part:

Plea of Defense.

"The defendant's counsel appear here because, under our system of jurisprudence, no man can be placed on trial for the high crime of murder, the penalty of which, under the law, is death, without he has the assistance of counsel. The defendant, no matter how serious a crime he has committed, is entitled under our laws to the benefit of a trial. In the case of murder he must have a trial.

"You sat here and listened to the defendant's plea of guilty when he was arraigned at the opening of this term, but the law of our state will not permit him to plead guilty to such a crime as this. The law is so careful of the rights of its citizens that it will not permit a man to plead guilty to this crime of murder, so that, even after he had conceded his guilt in this case, it was incumbent upon the court to insist that the trial should proceed and that the people should establish beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was guilty of the crime charged against him.

"This trial here is a great object lesson to the world. Here is a case where a man has stricken down the beloved president of his country in broad daylight, in the presence of hundreds of thousands of spectators. If there was ever a case that would excite the anger, the wrath of those who saw it, this was one, and yet, under the advice of the president, 'let no man hurt him,' he was taken, confined in our prison, indicted, put upon trial here and the case is soon to be submitted to you, as to whether he is guilty or the crime charged against him. That, gentlemen, speaks volumes in favor of the orderly conduct of the people of the city of Buffalo.

"Gentlemen of the jury, if you find he was not responsible you would aid in lifting a great cloud from the minds of the people of the country. If the beloved president had met with a railroad accident and been killed, our grief could not compare with what it is now. If you find that he met his fate through the act of an insane man, it is the same as though he met it by accident."

District Attorney Penney replied for the state. His summing up of the case was brief and devoid of sensationalism. Supreme Justice White, in his charge to the jury, said among other things that if the members were satisfied from the evidence that at the time of the committal of the assault the defendant was laboring under a defect of reason, as not to know the quality of the act or that it was wrong, he was not responsible and the jury must acquit. The jury was out about half an hour.

Assassin's Relatives.

Buffalo, Sept. 25. — Paul Czolgosz, father; Waldeck Czolgosz, brother, and Victoria Czolgosz, sister of the president's assassin, arrived here from Cleveland. Superintendent Bull and Assistant Superintendent Cusack took charge of them and sent them to police headquarters with Detectives Solomon and Geary. Superintendent Bull stated that if they wanted to see Czolgosz permission would probably be granted them to see him in the jail before the sentence of death is pronounced. The police officials denied the story that they came to Buffalo to make the murderer reveal the plot to kill the president.

Some years ago Paul Czolgosz owned a farm in Warrensville, O., a suburb of Cleveland. Three or four years ago the father sold it to four of his sons, Leon, Waldeck, Jacob and John, for $1,400, the murderer having a $250 interest in the farm. The sons run the farm, but the father says that Leon would do no work, claiming all the time that he was ill. Last July Leon left home, saying that he was going west, and $70 was advanced him upon his interest in the farm. Shortly afterwards Waldeck, the oldest brother, received a letter from him in Fort Wayne, Ind. Nothing more was heard from Leon until August, when he wrote Waldeck asking that $10 be sent him at West Seneca, this county, in the name of Frank Snider. The brother sent it, and he now explains that he thought that Snider was the name under which his brother was working.

KLONDIKE

Is Now in Telegraphic Communication.

First Message was Sent by Governor Ross.

Line is Two Thousand Miles Long and Connects Many Important Points in the Gold Fields of Alaska.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Van Couver, B. C., Sept. 25.—The Klondike has been brought into telegraphic communication. The first message was one of congratulation from Gov. Ross, of the Klondike now in Van Couver, to his legal representative at Dawson. The line which is 2,000 miles long, touches at Atlin White House, Dawson and Ft. Simpson and connects, at the Alaskan boundary with the projected American government line from St. Michael.

Won't Re-Enlist.

London, Sept. 25.—The result of the government invitation to the imperial yeomanry to re-enlist has proved a great disappointment. It was expected that a majority of the men would rejoin. Instead of this the first week witnessed only 30 applications. New measures will have to obe taken to secure recruits. The trouble is largely due to the fact that the men had to wait for months before getting their arrears of pay settled.

SAYS

Vessels Could Have Taken Coal

On the Date

That Schley Said Was "Too Rough."

Prosecution Has a Lively Inning in the Court of Inquiry.

It is Developed in Schley's Favor, However, That His Message Was Distorted in the Printed Records.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Washington, Sept. 25.—With the exception of an adjournment on the day of the funeral of Judge Wilson, there will be no break in the progress of the Schley trial. Judge Advocate Lemly will direct his attack on Schley along the line that Schley must have known that the Spanish fleet was in Santiago when he started to Key West to coal. He expected to prove this by the testimony of Captain Sigsbee and pilot Nunese.

DISTORTED

Was Schley's Message In the Records That Were Printed.

Cotton stated that the sea was not so rough but that he could have coaled his ship, the Harvard on the day that Schley said it was too rough to coal at sea. Then came a discussion of Schley's message. In the original Schley said, "It is to be regretted that the department's orders cannot be obeyed much as we have all striven to do so."

In the printed records that matter appears as follows: "Much to be regretted, cannot obey orders of department. Have striven earnestly." Judge Raynor said that the difference was of great importance and that the order as printed did a great injustice to Schley. Mr. Hanna said the changes occurred in translating the message from the code and that they were of no importance.

ADMIRAL

Who Delivered Dispatches to Schley Testified Today.

Admiral Cotton who delivered dispatches to Schley before the Santiago engagement was put on the stand. He told of the delivery of dispatches to Schley which contained the opinion of the navy department that the Spanish fleet was in Santiago harbor. It was after the receipt of this dispatch that Schley started for Key West to coal.

In the course of his testimony, Cotton said, that though he was informed of a man to communicate with the insurgents on shore, Schley had not accepted him. He further said that to his knowledge Schley made no effort to locate Cevera's fleet nor to obey the orders of the navy department delivered by Cotton.

THE TEXAS

Narrowly Escaped Being Rammed By the Brooklyn.

Washington, Sept. 25.—At the trial today, Admiral Schley appeared in mourning for Judge Wilson. To show that the log of the Texas did not contain all of the happenings on the day of the naval battle at Santiago, A. B. Claxton, chief machinist, testified to having received orders for full steam astern during the early part of the engagement. This was to save the Texas from being rammed by the Brooklyn. The log said nothing about it.

KRUGER'S

Friends Deny the Story That He is Destitute.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

London, Sept. 25—A story which has been widly published that President Kruger is destitute is officially denied by his friends. He lives simply in order that he may spend all his money for Boer cause. He has ample funds.

SHOT HIMSELF

To Escape from an Infuriated Mob

Who Pursued Him Because of His Crime.

Tragical Death of a Professor in Missouri State School of Mines Who Killed a Young Lady.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Rolla, Mo., Sept. 25.—Prof. J. S. Croswell, instructor in the state school of mines here who last night shot and killed Miss Mollie Powell, with whom he was infatuated, because she would not marry him, was last midnight, brought to bay by an angry mob, and shot himself, dying instantly. Croswell came from near Boston, Mass., and was a graduate from the Boston Institute of Technology.

Anthracite Situation.

New York, Sept. 25.—Recognition for trade-unionism was the principal subject of discussion at a conference held between Frederick D. Underwood, president of the Erie railroad, and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers; T. D. Nichols, president of district No. 1; Joseph Fahey of district No. 11, and Thomas Duffy of district No. 9. The conference continued for two hours. It is expected that it will be resumed. Interpretations of certain passages on an agreement entered into last March between them and their employers were asked by the miners. All the persons interested in the conference declined to make any statement for publication. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor; John Mulholland, president of the International Union of Allied Mechanics, and Max Morris, a vice president of the Federation of Labor, were also in conference with the miners at the Ashland House. Their presence was declared to have nothing to do with the coal situation.

Yachts' Official Measurement.

New York, Sept. 25. — The official measurements of the cup challenger, Shamrock II, and the cup defender, Columbia, were made public at the New York Yacht club. The result was in the nature of a surprise, for it showed that the Shamrock, which is the larger boat so far as sail area and displacement are concerned, allows only 43 seconds to the Columbia over the 30-mile course on which the contests for the Americas cup are to be sailed. The Shamrock has a shorter water line length. She has a longer spinnaker boom, a longer gaff, a longer topmast and carries more canvas. Mr. Watson, the designer of the Shamrock II, by keeping down the load water line length of his yacht has got the better of his rival, Mr. Herreschoff.

PAUL

Thinks the Expense Too Great to

Send Envoys

To Roosevelt Asking Intervention

For the Purpose of Trying to End the War in South Africa.

The Resources of President Kruger and His People Have Been Sadly Reduced Since the War Began.

The Hague, Sept. 25.—The announcement made in The Soir of Brussels that Mr. Kruger has decided to send a special mission to President Roosevelt is reported to be incorrect. It appears that such a project had been in contemplation, but the idea is not likely to be carried out owing to the great expense incidental to it and the old difficulty of securing a suitable representative. The expenses incurred since Mr. Kruger came to Europe have reduced the Transvaal funds to a small sum. In fact some of the Boers here are even destitute, and all of them agree Mr. Kruger has scarcely enough for himself. It is not believed that he could go to Washington, as since the death of Mrs. Kruger he has not been the vigorous man of quick decision which he was formerly. The course probably to be adopted will be that Montague White will be instructed to approach the United States, and Mr. Kruger and the others will take no action pending the result of Mr. White's endeavor.

CORN KING

Commenced Another Corner on the Board Today.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Geo. H. Phillips, formerly king of the corn pit, began all over on the board of trade this morning, determined not only to settle the debts incurred by the old company, of which he was a the head, but to reap another fortune for himself. He owes $150,000.

GETTING READY

For the Great International Yacht Race.

The Shamrock Sprung a Leak at the Trial Yesterday and Had to be Redocked.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

New York, Sept. 25.—In 24 hours or less, the Shamrock and Columbia will be jockeying for a start in the first great American cup race. The Shamrock had to be redocked yesterday to enable workmen to refasten some forward rivets. It is stated that the Shamrock was leaking badly, but this is denied by Lipton. Both yachts will have final trial spins today.

Short of Men.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 25.—The American Windowglass company finds itself far short of the necessary number of workmen to fill out the full complement of its mills, and has agents abroad endeavoring to obtain men. This year it is the co-operative companies that offer the best inducements to skilled workmen, and it is said these companies will be running with a full force while the American company's ally, the American Independent Windowglass company, will be "shy."

Socialism Condemned.

Sedalia, Mo., Sept. 25.—At a meeting of the Citizen's alliance here active steps to prevent the holding of the state convention of Socialists in Sedalia in October were taken. Resolutions which speak of socialism as a "hotbed of anarchy" request property owners not to furnish a hall for the socialistic gathering, and the city and county officials not to grant the use of any park or public place for that purpose.

Laborer Run Down.

Upper Sandusky, O., Sept. 25.—Antonio Gabrillo, an Italian laborer employed on the Pennsylvania near here, was run down by a work train and so badly injured that he died several hours later.

INDIANS

Of Nome Threatened With Starvation.

Have Spent All of Their Money for Liquor.

And Unless the Government Aids Them They are Doomed to Perish—Many of the Miners are Penniless.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 25.—The Indians in Nome, Alaska, are threatened with starvation. They have spent the proceeds of the sales of fur for liquor instead of laying in supplies and unless the government aids them they will fall victims to starvation. The gold output for the Nome district for the season is placed at five million. Destitute miners from outlying districts are arriving at Nome. All are penniless and without supplies and report that they were unable to find gold in Kotzbu or other alleged gold fields.

Lynching and Anarchy.

Tuskogee, Ala., Sept. 25. — Booker T. Washington of the Tuskogee normal and industrial institute has given out a statement in reference to the assassination of President McKinley, in which he says: "In all sincerity, I want to ask, is Czolgosz alone guilty? Has not the entire nation had a part in this greatest crime of the century? What is anarchy but a defiance of law, and has not the nation reaped what it has been sowing? According to records 2,516 persons have been lynched in the United States during the past 16 years. There have been engaged in this anarchy of lynching nearly 125,800 persons."

Roosevelt to Attend.

New Haven, Sept. 25. — President Roosevelt has written to the Yale bicentennial committee that he will attend the celebration, which begins Oct. 19, and it is expected that a number of cabinet officers who accepted invitations before the death of President McKinley will accompany him. Another guest whose formal acceptance has been received is Admiral Sampson. It is unofficially stated that both President Roosevelt and Admiral Sampson will receive the degree of doctor of laws from Yale at the same time of the bicentennial.

Sampson and Inquiry Court.

New York, Sept. 25.—Rear Admiral Sampson, questioned at Fort Hamilton, where he is the guest of Lieutenant Scott, his son-in-law, said that he did not know whether he would be a witness at the Schley investigation, but would go if summoned. As to his own health the admiral said it was much improved. Lieutenant Scott, when asked as to the duration of the admiral's stay at the fort, said that it was for an indefinite period.

Driven From Town.

Guthrie, O. T., Sept. 25.—At Lillivale William Fairfield, who sympathized with Czolgosz and Emma Goldman and said it would have been better for the poor people if President McKinley had been killed long ago, was driven from town.

Fall Proved Fatal.

Metropolis, Ills., Sept. 25.—William Lysle, a local aeronaut, who fell from his balloon at Stonefort, a distance of 60 feet, Saturday, died from the effects of his injuries.

STICKS

To the Story He First Told.

Suspect Saftig

Claims That There was a Conspiracy

And That He was One of the Persons Connected With It.

He Further Asserts That He Tied Handkerchief Over the Hand of Assassin Before He Shot McKinley.

St. Louis, Sept. 25.—The police are still holding Edward Saftig, arrested here Monday and charged with petit larceny. To Chief of Detectives Desmond he confessed that he was one of three men who conspired to assassinate President McKinley at Buffalo Sept. 6, and that it was he who tied around Czolgosz's hand the handkerchief that concealed the weapon with which Czolgosz shot the president. In his confession Saftig implicated Frank Harrigan of Philadelphia in the plot. Saftig says that the Monday previous to the assassination of President McKinley, Harrigan met him and Emma Goldman in the Archelobe saloon in this city and arranged the details of the murder.

A waiter named Thomas Pettit, who is employed where Saftig boarded, says Saftig was in St. Louis on the day President McKinley was shot and the two read bulletins of the tragedy in front of newspaper offices. He said that Saftig was a seeker after notoriety. Saftig was confronted with Pettit. Despite Pettit's positive statement to the contrary, Saftig said he was in Buffalo on the day in question. Saftig said that he first met Czolgosz in Chicago, where he was known as Nieman. He had a letter of introduction from Harrigan, who, Saftig said, was a lawyer living at 227 West Twenty-sixth street, New York city. Saftig said he himself once lived in New York at 498 West Twenty-sixth street. The prisoner would not tell where or when he met Czolgosz in Chicago. Asked if he knew Emma Goldman, Saftig said he had never met her, but had heard her speak in Paterson, N. J., in June, 1898, and elsewhere. As far as he knew, the prisoner said, he was not known to the Goldman woman.

Saftig, the police say, served a term in the workhouse for stealing a book, and secured his release in August. Two days later he was taken from Union station to the city hospital suffering from internal injuries received in a fall from a Baltimore and Ohio train at Carlisle, Ills.

Passing of Judge Wilson.

Washington, Sept. 25. — Jeremiah Morrow Wilson, principal counsel for Rear Admiral Schley and one of the leading lawyers of Washington, died suddenly in his apartments in the Sherman hotel. Heart failure, superinduced by an attack of acute indigestion, coupled with bright's disease, caused his death. The end came unexpectedly, as he was in conference with his associated counsel in the Schley case scarcely an hour before he died. Judge Wilson was a native of Ohio and was 73 years old. Early in life he removed to Indiana, where he served with distinction on the common pleas and circuit benches. He represented an Indiana district in the Forty-second and Forty-third congresses.

Alleged Circle of Anarchists.

Kansas City, Sept. 25.—In the arrest here of two Italians, Nicol Alessi and Francesco Governale, charged with counterfeiting, secret service officers have discovered what appears to be a circle or anarchists believed to be identified with Antonio Maggio, now under arrest in New Mexico for predicting the death of President McKinley. At the Italian quarters were found a quantity of letters and printed matter, in Italian, bearing Maggio's name. The men were bound over on the counterfeit charge and the literature forwarded to Chief Wilkie of the secret service at Washington for investigation.

THE NEW SOUTH LIMA PASTOR.

REV. C. H. SIMMS, PASTOR OF SOUTH SIDE CHURCH OF CHRIST.

CALLED TO BE PASTOR.

At the morning service last Sunday, the south side church of Christ extended a unanimous call to C. H. Sims, of Tiffin, Ohio, to be its pastor. In about twenty minutes Mr. Sims raised $828 to aid in church expenses, this was afterwards raised to nearly $1100 and will be brought up to $2,000. A new system of financial work was inaugated and met the approval of all. Mr. Sims will soon move his family to this city. Mr. Sims was pastor of Ft. Wayne 1st church for three years, doubling its membership, which then numbered 400, paying its debts and building a parsonage, which afterwards sold for $3,200. His next charge was Wichita Central for four years, during this time 504 souls were added raising the membership to over 1,000 This was then the largest church of his people west of the Mississippi river. $8,000 debts were raised for this church. Mr. Sims was the elected Kansas state evangelist for two years and immediately succeeded to the office of national evangelist for the home board at Cincinnati. This, with the three years pastorate at Tiffin, O., completes his work before coming here. Though yet a young man, Mr. Sims has accomplished the work of a lifetime, over 1800 have been turned to Christ by him, a number of churches dedicated and several young preachers started in the work, and many thousands of dollars raised for the work of saving souls at home and abroad.

Encountered a Gale.

Port Townsend, Wash., Sept. 25.—The steerage steamer Oregon arrived from Rome, bringing 374 passengers and $50,000 in gold. The Oregon sailed Sept. 6. The third day out she encountered heavy weather and lost her rudder and broke her rudder post. The gale lasted 10 days and during that time the craft floundered around at the mercy of the elements.

Killed His Brother.

Indianapolis, Sept. 25. — Frank Smith, colored, living near Castleton, a few miles out of Indianapolis, was shot and killed by his brother, Robert Smith, who lived with him, and recently moved here with his family from Kentucky. The quarrel was during a celebration of the birthday anniversary of the murderer's wife.

LESSON FROM DROUGHT.

Professor Galloway Says Farmers Will Learn Value of Variety.

Professor Galloway, chief of the bureau of plant industry at the department of agriculture in Washington, has returned from a tour of investigation of the drought stricken regions of the west, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. Professor Galloway's mission was not so intimately connected with ascertaining the extent of the injury suffered by the crops as it was with the observance of the preparations made by the farmers to defend themselves against drought in future years. His examinations into the conditions prevalent in some regions in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado revealed the fact that in spite of the severe damage suffered by the crops the drought was in one sense a valuable lesson.

"Farmers are learning to plant more of a variety and put less dependence in one particular crop," said Professor Galloway.

The experiment stations maintained by the department in all parts of the country, he said, are important factors in the dissemination of practical knowledge, and the farmers are learning their value and profiting thereby. Professor Galloway said that the beet sugar industry was attaining respectable proportions. Sugar beets, he declared, need much closer attention than most grains, corn for instance, but that it has been demonstrated at one of the experiment stations which has gone into the beet raising business on rather a large scale that a profit of about $75 an acre can be realized.

Professor Galloway found much of the corn suffering from undercultivation, the farmers in many places having evidently despaired of the crop and let the weeds run riot in the fields. This is a mistake, he declares, for the reason that the remaining moisture there may be in the soil goes to the support of the weeds as well as the grain.

Mr. G. A. Stillman, a merchant of Tampico, Ill., writes: "Foley's Kidney Cure is meeting with wonderful success. It has cured some cases here that physicians pronounced incurable. I myself am able to testify to its merits. My face to day is a living picture of health, and Foley's Kidney Cure has made it such."

Stranded Transport Floated.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Acting Adjutant General Ward received a telegram from General Chaffee at Manilla, saying that the transport Buford, which ran aground at the mouth of the Rio Grande river, Mindanao, a few days ago, has been floated uninjured and is now loading the Twenty-third regiment of infantry, which she will bring to New York by way of the Suez canal.

Two Passenger Trains Come Together The Injured.

New York, Sept. 25.—In a head-on collision between a Central Railroad of New Jersey passenger train and a Philadelphia and Reading passenger train near Somerville, N. J., three persons were seriously hurt and several others slightly injured. The seriously hurt are H. H. Jalette of Philadelphia, skull probably fractured; the Rev. S. Dickson of the American Tract society; Frank Marion, fireman of the Central train, internal injuries and suffering from steam inhalation. The three are at the Somerville hospital. The accident is said to have been caused by the fact that the Central is making changes in the roadbed and the Reading engineer was not familiar with these and the special signals which had been set.

Murderer Shot Himself.

Rolla, Mo., Sept. 25.—J. S. Croswell, an instructor in the school of mines and metallurgy, who shot and killed Miss Mollie Powell because she refused to marry him, was surrounded by a posse near here. Before he could be taken Croswell shot himself, dying almost instantly. Croswell was found in a barn near the scene of the murder, where he had been in hiding since Monday night.

HAND IN HAND

Sleeplessness, Nervousness, Indigestion the Bane of the Present Day—Lima People Know the Remedy.

There is a condition that a great many people get into these days, not sick abed, able to be around but never feeling well, weak and the least exertion tuckers them out. As months go on they become weaker until resistance to disease is practically over come. It was directly for this class that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were formulated, they provide the lacking element that is wanted to remove the trouble Nerve Force.

Mrs. Jennie Love, of 718 north Union street, Lima, Ohio, says: "As a stomach tonic and nerve tonic Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills I got at Melville's drug store are splendid. Before I used the medicine my food bothered me and the stomach was weak and unable to digest the food. I was nervous as well and weak. Since I used the Nerve Pills everything seems natural again. I eat and digest my food well and the nerves and system are strong again."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. are on every package.

A REPUTATION

How It Was Made and Retained in Lima.

A good reputation is not easily earned, and it was only by hard, constant work among our citizens that Doan's Kidney Pills won their way to the proud distinction attained in this locality. The public endorsement of scores of Lima residents has rendered invaluable service to the community. Read what this citizen says:

Mrs. J. L. Gloyd, of 215 north Pine street, says: "I suffered for eight or nine years with dull aching pains through my loins, making me feel miserable all the time. I could not rest well, had to be careful if I stooped and the kidney secretions became irregular and variable. I tried different remedies but did not receive much benefit and suffered a great deal. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended, I procured a box at Melville's drug store, I commenced to feel better in a short time and continued the treatment until cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

PERUSAL

Of the Indictment Against a Bank Official and What It Reveals.

Omaha, Sept. 25.—A perusal of the indictment against Charles T. Officer, the Council Bluffs banker, shows the evidence upon which the grand jury based its action. Charles E. Waters, the expert who examined the books, testified before the grand jury that $14,000 of the nominal cash assets was represented by slips counted as cash on the books; that Charles T. Officer signed the firm's name to drafts and other bank paper and received and handled the cash. Mr. Waters also testified that he found certain drafts drawn a year or more before the bank was closed in favor of Thomas Officer, and which were not cashed until after his death, and was then passed to the credit of the Thomas Officer estate, when it appeared from the books they equitably belonged to the firm.

Confessed a Shortage.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 25.—A few weeks ago the gents' furnishing firm of William Meyer & Brothers was forced into voluntary bankruptcy. William Meyer, Jr., was at that time auditor of Allen county and also president of the Western Baseball association. Relatives had been heavy indorsers at the banks to aid in making two campaigns for political office and the bankruptcy proceedings shocked his creditors and indorsers at the bank. In order to protect himself it is believed he may have used baseball association funds and also funds belonging to the county. Two weeks ago his bondsmen became worried and called Meyer to task. To his bondsmen, in the presence of County Commissioners Orff, Handy and Schmitthorn, he confessed to a shortage of $2,450. Meyer's shortage, it is said, may exceed $40,000. He was a popular, jolly good fellow and his friends were legion. Baseball umpires arrived here for back salaries, but were held off. Meyer has left town.

Kentucky Kuklux Band.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 25.—Considerable excitement was created at Stonega, Wise co county, W. Va., when detectives arrived with 10 prisoners whom they were taking to Pineville, Ky., to be placed in jail for safe keeping until they can be brought to trial. The men under arrest are members of a "kuklux" band that, it is alleged, has been operating in Letcher county, Ky., and that it was there for several months. During that time a number of women and men have been mysteriously murdered, and these crimes are ascribed to this gang. Some hot developments are expected when the cases come to trial.

Ordered to Leave Town.

Spring Valley, Ills., Sept. 25.—The editor and owner of the anarchist paper L'Aurora, John Cincebela, was notified to leave town and remove his printing plant immediately. The government has made no move toward excluding it from the mails. Large bundles of L'Aurora go to Paterson, N. J., and to Ishpeming, Mich., and the paper has a large circulation in Spring Valley, Ladd, Peru and Lasalle. Notwithstanding the notification presented him by the secretary of the citizens' mass meeting, Cincebela is now preparing the next issue of his paper for the press.

Rebel Leader Escaped.

Washington, Sept. 25.—Mail advices confirm the reports of the defeat of General Marin, the revolutionary leader, who has been operating in the department of Tolima. General Marin himself escaped. Legation officials here say that Colombia has no intention of taking action. Mr. Hoeen, the secretary of the Colombian legation, says the rebellion in Colombia has cost the government upwards of $200,000,000 and the sacrifice of 45,000 lives, all of whom were Colombians except perhaps 500 of the Venezuelan auxiliaries of the revolutionists.

Greater New York Republicans.

New York, Sept. 25.—The Republican city convention ratified the report of its conference committee and formally named Seth Low, president of Columbia college, for mayor, Edward M. Grout of Brooklyn for controller and Charles V. Fornes of New York for president of the board of aldermen. A platform was adopted arraigning Tammany Hall. The Citizens' union also ratified the nominees.

WAS A FRIEND OF THE BOERS

Mr. Van der Hoecht Pays a Tribute to the Dead President.

A touching tribute to McKinley has been paid by Mr. Van der Hoecht, the unofficial representative of the Boer interests in Washington, says the Chicago News. Mr. Van der Hoecht says:

"I know that President McKinley was a friend of the struggling republics in South Africa. During his lifetime it was impossible to state many of his kindly offices in their behalf, but as a tribute to a gentle and beneficent man I feel free to relate a few personal reminiscences.

"When President Kruger dispatched his circular telegram to the powers of the world, President McKinley was the first to take action and to suggest his diplomatic good offices to Great Britain. The world knows the text of the formal note delivered, but very few know that President McKinley was in constant and personal correspondence with Embassador Choate during the progress of negotiations.

"When Great Britain refused the individual intervention of the United States, President McKinley took an extraordinary step and directed Embassador Choate to inquire of Lord Salisbury if a joint request from the powers would be acceptable to Great Britain. I know that in this connection he also consulted continental embassadors at Washington. The reply to this extraordinary suggestion was in the negative. President McKinley could do no more.

"While pressure was being exercised upon the president to induce him to inaugurate a vigorous policy I had an interview with him, and in a most gracious manner he explained his course and went so far as to show me his personal correspondence and telegrams. That he was sincere and earnest was certain."

"There's only one drawback to this house," said the candid owner; "it has no bath." "That's no drawback," announced the prospective tenant; "we're all anarchists."

A Church Fair

To be Given by Catholic Ladies.

Committees Appointed at a Meeting Held Last Evening.

J. J. Thralekill Injured in an Accident That Befel Him While at Work on Hughes Avenue Yesterday.

J. J. Thralekill, while repairing a chimney at his home on Hughes avenue yesterday afternoon, was injured by a quantity of brick falling upon him. They were placed upon a temporary scaffold under which he was working, when it gave way, precipitating them upon him. He was knocked down, being partially buried beneath them. He was assisted to extricate himself. He was badly bruised about the chest. His left shoulder was also dislocated. The most serious injury sustained was upon his head, which was cut by the edge of a brick. The cut was a long deep one causing much pain.

Henry Orenski returned last night from Cleveland, to his home on St. Johns avenue. He, with his parents, was attending the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, the day the President was shot. He had just shaken hands with the late president. Orenski, with his mother, was standing just a few feet from the President when shot. He describes the excitement following, as something he hopes never again to witness. His mother was so affected that she had to be removed to a hotel, where she remained in a critical condition for two days, as a result of the shock.

At a recent meeting of the ladies of the south Lima Catholic church, they organized into committees to arrange for a church fair to be held about the holidays. All preliminaries will be arranged so that as soon as the new church on south Main street is completed they can hold the fair in the rooms to be occupied by the church societies. It is purposed to have the affair to be one of the greatest undertakings of its kind ever held in this city.

Frank E. Black, of Freso, Col., who is here visiting, possesses a number of ancient Chinese coins, which he values highly. Each one is of bronze, about the size of a five cent piece, bearing Chinese symbols in relief. They are perforated with a square characteristic of these coins. Their dates are very ancient, one from deciphering bearing date of what would correspond to the year 10 of the Christian era. They were secured by the owner from a native of the celebrated Chinatown of San Francisco.

Frank Ricketts, who has been confined to his home by illness, is convalescing.

Miss Mary Boehler, from Fremont, is the guest of west Kibby street friends.

Miss Millie Duggan, who has been visiting Miss Grace Howard, at Kenton, returned yesterday to her south Main street home.

Charles Myers, of Ada, Teller in the First National Bank of that place, is spending a few days in this city, while having his eyes treated.

The postoffice department contemplate the issuance of a special issue of postage stamps commendatory of the life of the late President McKinley.

The campaign of 1904 is now suspended, so far as the republicans are concerned.—Toledo Blade.

Which suggests that the Blade crowd of republicans expects Roosevelt to succeed himself.

Chairman Dick of Ohio is the only prominent man in the United States who has tried to joke about the assassination of President McKinley. His suggestion that the Democratic party withdraw its objection to republican policies is a bit of levity hardly excusable at such a time.—The Commoner.

The Toledo Blade with an eye to the Chinese says:

"Isn't it absurd to freely admit anarchists to the United States and exclude the peaceful and industrious Chinese?"

The law excluding the Chinese is all right, but the miserable anarchists flying from their deserts in other countries should be absolutely barred from entrance within the gates of this great republic.

The weather clerk is kind to the Allen County Fair Board this year. The weather could not be improved upon. Now let the people meet the weather clerk half way and fill the fair ground to overflowing each receiving day of the fair. This will encourage not only the managers of the fair but the exhibitors as well and well assure a still greater exhibition next year than we are enjoying this week.

The accession of President Roosevelt means the decline of Gen. Corbin, if reports be true. Corbin, it is known, expected to be appointed to command the army when General Miles retired, two years hence, thus realizing his ambition for the stars of a lieutenant general. He, however, as is well known, despises the American volunteer. It was through his influence that Mr. Roosevelt was refused an ardently desired medal of honor for his services in the Santiago campaign. It was also he, by the way, who objected so strongly to Funston's promotion, claiming that the latter was merely a good sort of a scout. Now his reward is at hand. President Roosevelt cannot well "get even" with him by displacing him from his post in charge of the adjutant general's office (nor would he desire to do this), but he will certainly promote some one else to Gen. Miles' place when the vacancy occurs, the more so as Gen. Corbin won his present place by political favoritism.

In reading the history of past assassinations, says a writer in an exchange, we are struck by the fact that the three presidents who have thus far fallen victims to murderous fanaticism have been three of the mildest and most lovable men in their personal characters who ever occupied the position of chief magistrate of the nation. Lincoln, whose infinite humanity has made his memory something very much like religion, was first. Garfield's personal charm and ready sympathy were almost the strongest influences in his elevation to the post that brought death to him, and McKinley has been designated by Senator Hoar, who differs widely with him in important political matters, as the "best loved president the country ever had." If there is any significance in this fact, it is merely by way of emphasis of the conclusion these deeds of mad men are directed against the office, and not against the man. We have had presidents who were the objects of many and bitter personal animosities and hatreds; but these escaped, while mad men chose as their victims the gentlest and most generous of all our line of executives.

Exports from the United States to Porto Rico and the Philippines continue to increase rapidly; to Cuba they are decreasing notwithstanding the fact that the imports from Cuba are rapidly increasing. Our domestic exports to Porto Rico in the seven months ending with July, 1901, were $4,399,325, against $3,107,248 in the corresponding months of last year, an increase of 40 per cent. To the Philippines our domestic exports in the seven months ending with July, 1901, were $2,023,187, against $1,592,030 in the corresponding months of 1900, an increase of over 25 per cent. To Cuba our domestic exports in the seven months ending with July, 1901, were $13,821,751, against $14,870,940 in the same months of 1900, a decrease of 7 per cent. Our imports from Cuba in the same period of 1901 were $56,829,630, against $24,767,654 in the corresponding months of last year, an increase in imports of about 50 per cent. From Porto Rico our imports in the seven months ending with July, 1901, were $5,111,903, against $3,084,018 in the corresponding period of 1900, an increase of 65 per cent. The decline in our shipments to Cuba is entirely explained by the reduced takings of iron and steel and manufactures thereof, while the only important decline in our shipments to the other islands is in the item of exports of malt liquors to the Philippines.

THE BOERS STILL FIGHTING.

Every time the British censor of South African news undertakes to snatch a wink of sleep some bit of information slips through and gives the world at large a new light on the South African situation. For weary months we have been repeatedly told that the war was practically ended and that the Boers were dispersed and scattered to the ends of their once beloved republic. But the censor nodded the other day and the world learned that a party of Boers rode up to within twenty miles of Pretoria and blew up a British railway train, killing seventeen British soldiers and capturing a large supply of ammunition and food-stuffs. It is slowly dawning upon the mind of the British taxpayer that he is being roundly robbed for the benefit of a few mining speculators. The Boers are not yet conquered, and unless the history of the world is at fault they never will be. A people who love liberty well enough to die for it, though often overwhelmed are never conquered.—Bryan's Commoner.

THE FALLACY

That Increased Taxation Is a Public Blessing.

On the Contrary It Leads to Extravagance in Expenditures and Promotes Jobbery and Other Excesses.

Columbus, O., Sept. 22. — Governor Nash, in his only utterance pertaining to the internal affairs of the state of Ohio, before whose people he is a candidate for re-election to the office of governor, announced that the amount of taxes collected from the people of the state for general revenue purposes in 1900, when there was a Republican state administration and legislature, was $6,255,937.

To make these figures show in a favorable light, he pointed to the fact that the collections in 1890 for the same purposes, when there was a Democratic state government and legislature, were but $3,556,804.

Now, if increased taxation is, per se, a public blessing, the people of the state were blessed, in 1900, to the extent of $2,699,185, for they paid that much more taxes in that year than in 1890.

And it follows that if increased tax collections are a blessing, the greater the collections the better off are the taxpayers.

But do intelligent men believe this? Can Governor Nash even make the members of his own party believe such things?

But Governor Nash carefully refrained from telling the taxpayers that the expenditures from the general revenue fund, to run the government in 1900, was $5,104,769, while in 1890 they were but $3,484,806, showing the increase in expenditures for 1900 over 1890 to be $1,619,990.

The revenues in 1890 met every requirement, and at the end of the fiscal year left a balance of $100,000. After meeting the increased expenditures of nearly 50 per cent in 1900, there was the sum of $1,150,000 left in the treasury to excite extravagance in the next legislature.

One million of this sum should have been left in the pockets of the taxpayers. This could have been done by reducing the state levy from 1.4 mills to .8 mill.

Instead of reducing taxation the Republican state administration and legislature increased official salaries, positions and jobs to eat up $1,619,990 of the increased tax collections.

The taxpayers received no benefits, but the officeholders, contractors and political favorites have reaped all the benefits of the increased revenues from new sources of taxation.

We have heretofore pointed out the marked increase of expenditures in many of the smaller bureaus. Here are some specimens in the large public institutions.

1. The expenditures of the Athens Hospital for the Insane in 1890 were $127,578; in 1900, $145,043, an increase of $17,461.

2. For the Cleveland Hospital, 1890, $158,390; in 1900, $208,619, an increase of $49,729.

3. For the Columbus Hospital, 1890, $180,890; in 1900, $222,288, an increase of $41,383.

4. For the Dayton Hospital, 1890, $122,15; in 1900, $136,369, an increase of $13,114.

5. For the Toledo Hospital, 1890, $185,908; in 1900, $272,476, an increase of $86,564.

6. The Ohio Penitentiary, 1890, $310,121; in 1900, 293,067, an increase or $82,946.

7. The Boys' Industrial School, 1890, $38,597; in 1900, $139,545, an increase of $100,948.

The increased ordinary expenditures in the seven institutions in 1900 over 1890 were $402,149.

This enormous increase can not be explained away on the ground of increased population. There should have been no increase, when all the facts are taken into consideration.

Between 1890 and 1900 the Epileptic Hospital at Gallipolis and the Hospital for the Insane at Massillon were erected, and in 1900 relieved the five other hospitals of many hundreds of patients.

In 1900 $201,720 was expended in the Massillon and $203,455 in the Gallipolis hospitals, a total of $405,175, so that the real increase in this particular in 1900 over 1890 is $807,324.

Again, the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield was finished after 1890 and relieved the Ohio Penitentiary directly, and the Boys' Industrial School indirectly, of a large number of inmates. The expenditures of the Reformatory in 1900 were $144,915, which is an added expense over 1890, making the actual increase $952,239 during the ten years, when, proportionate to population and all things else are taken into consideration, the increase would have been about $150,000.

In this way three-quarters of a million of the increased expenditures of 1900 over 1890 are accounted for.

These facts and figures demonstrate that the financial affairs of the state are being badly managed, and reckless extravagance marks that management. There can be no change for the better until the people change the managers themselves.

Must Be Conceded Also.

The Republican leaders of Ohio plume themselves on their ability to raise large sums of taxation from the people. It must also be conceded that they manage to spend it, regardless of the size of the collections.

WEDDING

Occurred While Choral Society was in Buffalo.

Only One Member of the Society Knew of the Marriage and That One was the Bride.

The members of the Lima-Ada Caoral Society and the young people of Lima generally will be surprised to learn that a wedding occurred while the society was in Buffalo last week and that a member was the bride in the secret nuptial event. A few members of the chorus noted the presence in Buffalo of a gentleman friend of Miss Myrtle Berryman's who was known as a prominent gentleman from Cincinnati, but no one guessed when Miss Berryman sang with the chorus on Friday in the contest for the $1,000 prize that she was no longer Miss Berryman but was instead the happy bride of the gentleman from Cincinnati. The wedding occurred on Thursday of last week and the song contest was held on the following day. The secret was closely guarded by the bride and none of her acquaintances here learned of the event until last evening. The name of the fortunate groom could not be ascertained but he is known to be a prominent and well-to-do farmer whose home is near Hamilton. His bride is a charming and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Berryman, of Shawnee township.

Anarchy Discussed.

Copenhagen, Sept. 25. — The anarchist question was discussed by Count Lamsdorff and Count Von Buelow at Dantzic and by M. Delcasse and Count Lamsdorff in France. They differed as to many points but agreed that the anarchist press must be suppressed and that concerted action must be taken by all civilized countries. The results of their discussions may be expected in the near future.

To Protect the Emperor.

Berlin, Sept. 25.—Extraordinary precautions have been taken at Reminten for Emperor William's safety during the deer-stalking there. Troops have been stationed in the villages near the Reminten forest. Passes are demanded from all persons going to the village of Reminten and no passes are issued except to persons who prove that they have business there. All sightseers are excluded.

Carlists Active.

Madrid, Sept. 25.—There are renewed rumors that Carlist risings are imminent in Catalonia. It is alleged that secret meetings have been held in Manresa and elsewhere. The authorities have been ordered to keep a careful watch. It is also reported that the minister of marine wishes to resign, the state of the treasury not permitting him to realize his naval projects.

SPECIAL

Meeting Held by the City Council.

McKibben Street Improve- Bonds Sold.

Awarded to a Local Banking House to be Marketed—Partial Estimate Awarded to Paving Contractors.

The city council held a special meeting in the council chamber at 7:30 o'clock last night with president Davis in the chair and eight members present. The special meeting was called for two specific purposes—to dispose of the east McKibben street improvement bonds and to allow a partial estimate to the contractors, Spyker, Mulligan & O'Brien, for the construction of that improvement.

The bonds are issued for the sum of $10,000 and inasmuch as no bids for them were received by the clerk, the council placed them in the hands of the Commercial Bank of this city, awarding the bank one half of one per cent for marketing and disposing of them.

The estimate awarded to the paving contractors aggregated $3,933.36.

FINEDISPLAY

Made at the Fair by the City Book Store.

Perhaps the "newest" exhibit for the benefit of the public at the Allen county fair this week is that of the City Book store, under the able management of Woolery & Ramseyer. The idea is new because it has to do with the first exhibit of the kind ever seen in Allen county. The display is composed of many attractive things from the complete stock of the City Book Store, among which are the latest designs in wall paper, beautiful work of art and a fine display of the latest Standard novels of the day. The display is a credit to the City Book Store, to Lima and to Allen county.

The Murry Comedy Co., tonight in "A Soldier's Sweetheart." Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

FAR AHEAD

Of Any Previous Year is the F. E. Harman Display at the Fair.

It would be almost impossible to pass through the art hall at the fair this week and not see the elaborate exhibit of F. E. Harman and not only be greatly attracted but most favorably impressed by the general pleasing effect. Mr. Harman has had for years an exhibit at the Allen county fairs, as his greatly increased business will show. The display this year, however, is far ahead of any in the past.

The 50 feet of space in the northwest corner on the first floor, is divided into three sections. The one nearest the west entrance is occupied by carpets and furniture, the selection next by a magnificent dining room set in Flemish oak, and last but by no means least, comes a display of kitchen utensils and several makes of the world famous Garland stove. Mr. Harman has reason to feel proud of the great advance he has made in these lines and the Lima and Allen county people realize that in the Harman store, they have an opportunity to obtain city articles, everything of the latest pattern and design—at Lima prices.

The display is certainly, one which will attract that class of people who know a good thing when it is displayed. The carpets are heavy and rich in appearance, and the exhibit of portiers and other draperies are equally attractive. Suffice it to say, that the exhibit is in every respect a grand success.

SCARCITY

Of Prolific Territory a Feature

Of the Status of Affairs in the Oil Fields.

Marion Township Furnishes the Best Producer Recently Drilled in Allen County Fields.

"[illegible] available oil territory is in demand [illegible] does not know where to [illegible] turn next." Such is a remark [illegible] at headquarters yesterday by [illegible] Toledo's most prominent oil [illegible].

[illegible] a fact that territory is rather [illegible] on the Ohio field. The field [illegible] now attracts the most attention [illegible] not alone the once famous gas belt [illegible] Hancock county. A number of good [illegible] are being completed through Allen, Cass and Marion townships of that county, and there is unusual activity in those townships.

Coal Noah Bowlus, of this city, says the Toledo Bee probably has one of the best pieces of producing property in the Trenton rock field, in the Van Etta farm, in Cass township. The entire territory from Toledo south to Mount Blanchard, in the southern [illegible] of Hancock county, is being [illegible] up. Some oil has been found in Mount Blanchard in the past and new work will soon be started there, as Jackson and Amanda townships are to be given a test.

The new well in Putnam county is attracting attention, as it is the first well of any importance yet drilled in that county. The well is owned by the Steiner Oil company, on the Diller farm, in section 26, Riley township. When drilled in it showed for a fair well, but when shot it increased the outlook, and the first 24 hours' production amounted to 100 barrels.

A number of wells above the average have been completed in the Lima [illegible], the past few days. The best [illegible] is the Federal Oil company's No. [illegible] on the Wreckage farm, in Marion township, Allen county. It did 110 barrels. In the same township, Maire Bros.' No. 3 on the Beeler farm, did [illegible] barrels, and the Ohio Oil Company's No. 1 on the Brunk farm, did [illegible] barrels without being shot. Roth, Argue & Co.'s No. 2 on the Higbie farm, in Perry township, did 100 barrels.

CREW

Of the Freight is Let Out.

Blame is Fixed

For the Wreck on the Detroit Southern.

One of the Boys Gives His Side of How the Crash Occurred.

Freight Engine Carried No Head Light and the Passenger Engineer Did Not See it Approaching.

Engineer Wm. Bland, conductor Dennis Murphy, fireman Jim Norris and brakeman Wm. Tehan and an "unknown" who had charge of the freight train that collided with a north bound passenger train near Columbus Grove on the Detroit Southern Monday morning at 3:10 have been laid off indefinitely by Supt. Hawkins. One of the crew was interviewed this morning by a Times man and he answered the query as to how the wreck occurred that it was no surprise to him for the crew to mar the passenger train. "Ever," said he, "since the new rules at my service here I have never been furnished with a time table. Furthermore our engine No. 21 had no headlight and engineer Pet Bruin, of the passenger train did not see our train until his headlight showed us up. When the crash came, conductor Murphy said to me, what's that fellow trying to do with his air, he must be trying to break our necks.—We did not realize that we had met another train."

It was engineer Bland's first trip and conductor Murphy was only promoted about a week ago, he having been with the road for the past two years as brakeman

Cassatt Makes a Threat.

The Philadelphia Enquirer this morning published the following concerning the fight between the Pennsylvania and the Wabash to Pittsburg business

A. J. Cassatt, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, has demanded of George Gould the surrender of the Wabash railway system and the Wheeling and Lake Erie at a price which will net a profit to the Goulds under threat of cutting off the whole of the Western Union telegraph lines from the entire Pennsylvania railroad system, as well as from the Vanderbilt lines, which have agreed to the deal

"This is a threat that means a war greater than any that has ever taken place in this country, and it is comparable only with that of the Beech Creek and South Pennsylvania in 1885, which resulted in the abandonment of these lines except as built, which were swallowed up by the Vanderbilts and the Pennsylvania.

"The penalty means that the Western Union will suffer the greatest blow in its history and will lose many of its profitable lines, which will be turned over to its great rival, the Postal Telegraph company.

"This ultimatum means more than any other railway deal in the history of this country. It is believed that the Goulds will accede to the demand and that the Pennsylvania will not only add nearly 3,000 concomitant miles to its trackage, but will also get rid of a rival for the Carnegie steel business, which is the largest factor in the whole matter, resulting from a contract made by Mr. Carnegie with the Wheeling and Lake Erie before the United States Steel corporation was formed, and to carry out which the Goulds were trying to build a line into Pittsburg."

New Vanderbilt Move.

It has been rumored for some time that the Vanderbilts were about to organize a new board which will control the financial policies of all the Vanderbilt roads, including the Lake Shore, Michigan Central, Nickle Plate, Lake Erie and Western, the Big Four and smaller lines, and is is said that when the organization of this board has been completed that Mr. Newman will become the chairman of this board, and will practically direct their financial policy. Other members of the board will be M. E. Ingalls, of the Big Four, and President Ledyard, of the Michigan Central. Who the other members will be has not as yet been determined, but it is quite certain that these gentlemen will be on the board. They will remove to New York. When this occurs a vice president and general manager of the Michigan Central. President Ledyard has grown old in the service of the Michigan Central, and, it is said, will be glad to drop the active management.

Notes From Findlay.

Road Manager Colston of the L. E. & W., was in the city yesterday.

The tracks on the L. E. & W. in the city limits are being ballasted with the yellow gravel that is brought from the pits at Lafayette, Ind. The section gang was hard at work yesterday settling the ballast. The road bed when finished will be one of the finest in the country.

A new order went into effect yesterday at the L. E. & W. that makes much additional work for Agent Will Evans. According to the new rule, a list of all the cars that are handled or stand in the local yards during each day must be tabaleted and sent in to General Manager Bickell at Indianapolis. Agent Evans sent in his first report yesterday. There were one hundred and eight cars standing in the yards

Train No 4 L. E. & W was almost an hour late yesterday.

Conductor Buck and engineer Stewart, of the Cincinnati Hamilton and Dayton railroad, have returned to duty after a short vacation

H. J. Needham, of Cleveland, chief engineer of the Wheeling and Lake Erie road, is the guest of friends in this city

Word has been received that the coaches for the through flyers on the Lake Erie and Western that are to run from Peoria to Buffalo are ready and waiting in the shops at Pullman, Ill. The coaches are all of pa[illegible] pattern and the trains will be solidly vestibuled. Even the baggage cars are of the Pullman make which means that the entire train will be the peer of any in the country. There will be four of these fast trains and they will only stop at Findlay and a few other of the larger towns on the line.—Findlay Republican.

Toledo C. H. & D. Notes.

Conductor Charles Doan is taking a week's vacation and is visiting in Logan.

Conductor John McManus and family are visiting in Cincinnati.

Conductor Noonan and brakeman Murphy are on the sick list

R. Horseman, clerk in General Yardmaster Rodman's office, has resigned and taken a position with the Bell. J. E. King has succeeded Mr Horseman and James Pollock has succeeded Mr. King as night yard clerk.

General Notes.

Western roads are considering the advisability of making a rule requiring young children to be accompanied when traveling. The trouble which has been experienced with children "tagged" and placed upon trains to go long distances is distasteful

No annual passes are to be issued to employes of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, after January 1, 1902. Special tickets at about one-third the regular fare, are to be issued by the company instead. It is probable that the same policy will be pursued on the lines east of Pittsburg.

The following orders for cars have been placed recently. Illinois Central, 500 coal cars and 300 box cars; Norfolk and Western, 25 freight cars; Oregon Short Line 300 more pressed steel cars; Erie, 2,000 box cars; Cincinnati, Homilton and Dayton, 250 freight cars; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific, 4 combination baggage and smoking cars.

Engine 121, of the L. E. & W., was run out of the shops yesterday after having received a general overhauling.

Engineer Charles Hartman, of the L. E. & W., is visiting the Pan-American exposition.

E. F. Robertson has been added to the list of brakemen on the C. H. & D.

Thirty-eight tickets to Buffalo were sold by agent Burkhardt yesterday.

MUCH PRAISE

Is Due the Metellus Thomson Dry Goods Company

In Recognition of Their Efforts in Creating One of the Finest Exhibits Ever Seen at the Allen County Fair.

On the first floor of the Art hall at the Allen county fair, on the south side of the building, is an exhibit, the artistic effect and general make up of which has seldom been equaled in Allen county. A space of 25 feet is filled with a delicate and at the same time, a most beautiful veranda like structure, consisting chiefly of bunting. The color idea of pink, white and a delicate shade of green, is carried out most tastefully. The white columns which support the structure are so draped with white bunting as to resemble marble as nearly as is man's ability to do so. Between these columns and toward the top are cleverly designed scrolls, consisting of bunting, artistically puffed. In the center of the back ground is a beautiful scroll design much resembling a fleur de lis inverted. Surrounding this and just large enough to make the general effect the most artistic, is a web like design in pure white.

So much for the structure. Inside seeming to be enjoying all the comforts of such a magnificent shelter, was figures, in gorgeous gowns are arranged to the best advantage from a display point of view. Here the public will have an opportunity of seeing as fine a line of seal skin and other varieties of jackets, also of dress skirts as was ever shown in Allen county. Here too, may be seen the newest thing in the millinery line: pattern hats as late in design as New York and the east can produce. To the left of this display of ready made garments is an array of silks and lace designs to attract the most critical of women. A display of furs, especially in the boa line, also occupies a conspicuous place in this beautiful exhibit.

The entire display, the idea of which was conceived by Messers John Deminger and Frank Clark, is a work of art far surpassing anything in that line that has ever been shown in the history of Allen county fairs, and only goes to prove in what a great degree the dry goods enterprises of today are in advance of those of a few years past. The Metellus Thompson Dry Goods Company truly deserves an abundance of praise and credit for their efforts at this year's Allen county fair.

Opening The Kiowa-Comanche Strip

On Aug. 6, according to the president's recent declaration, the lands of the Comanche, Kiowa and Apache Indians in Oklahoma will be open to settlement by whites. It is quite possible, however, that the opening will be postponed or, at any rate, delayed. Some of the Indians whose lands it is proposed to give to white men have entered a vigorous protest. They declare that the government has violated some of the provisions of the treaty made with them nine years ago. It is rather late for the aborigines to come into court with a claim of this nature, but they have done so and have vigorously contested their cause in the courts.

The land in dispute is a tract of more than 2,500,000 acres. According to the treaty, each of the 5,000 Indians on the land is to have a farm of 160 acres situated wherever the aborigine may choose. The government is also to set aside for the Indians one or more tracts, in all 480,000 acres, for grazing purposes. After further deducting land for town sites, school purposes, etc., the remainder, about 1,900,000 acres, is to be allotted among white settlers according to the homestead act. The method of allotment of this reservation and that of the adjoining Wichita tract is unique and unprecedented.

Washington authorities are determined that in connection with the opening of this land to white settlement there shall be no rush of boomers. Accordingly it has been determined to give out the land by lot. After fulfilling the requirements of the homestead law as to age, citizenship, etc., the applicant for the land is to draw a number. The land is then to be allotted in 160 acre tracts, according to the numbers drawn, and those with numbers that are too high will not get any land.

The drawing is to be conducted by the government, and absolute honesty is safeguarded by the provisions of the plan. Except that it contains the element of chance, the new method of selling government land at a nominal figure is eminently fair and will do away with the many ugly features of the rush and the endless litigation that has invariably followed it.

As to the value of the land of the Kiowa and Wichita reservations, opinions differ. According to some accounts, the land is fertile and well adapted to grazing and agriculture. Those who say that it bears within itself the possibility of becoming a rich, prosperous section point to the unquestionable success of other parts of Oklahoma. On the other hand, men ing to say that the man who intends to start a farm on his share of the reservation would do well to remain elsewhere. They say that there have been but four crops in 20 years, and none of these has been as much as 30 bushels to the acre, on account of the hot winds and continued droughts that are peculiar to that region of the country. It may be good ground for grazing, they admit, but that it will never do for farming is their earnest contention. There have recently been a number of reports that gold and other valuable metals have been discovered in paying quantities in the Wichita mountains, a range of hills in the western part of the Kiowa and Wichita reservations.

These reservations are situated in the southern part of Oklahoma. Their population is made up almost entirely of Indians, among them being Kiowas, Comanches, Apaches and Caddos. One of the Kiowa head chiefs, Lone Wolf, has been in Washington arguing against the proposed opening of the tribal lands. The Kiowas are distinguished among the aborigines of the territory for their intelligence and readiness to learn. Although when the Kiowas were wild "blanket" Indians they were fierce and stubborn fighters, they are today rapidly turning to the ways of civilization. They are the finest looking of the tribes, and many of their women are quite handsome. The Kiowas learn faster than any other Indians, and the whisky dealers, gamblers and sharks who have accumulated fortunes at the expense of the Cherokees and other tribes of the Indian Territory and Oklahoma have had little picking from them. They govern themselves under a form of tribal organization. The present great head chief is called Appeahtone, and he is one of the most remarkable Indians that have ever lived.

Chief Appeahtone is a polite, polished man. He speaks several languages and is a lawyer of ability. Apart from his dark complexion there is nothing about the head chief of the Kiowas to distinguish him from any other cultured American. He is simply a well dressed, middle aged gentleman, who is able to converse at ease with Americans of a lighter hue, with Frenchmen or with Germans. He is quite wealthy, and his daughter, known as the Princess Mora, has one fine robe, among others, that is worth $1,000.

Although the other tribes of the reservations soon to be thrown open are not equal, generally speaking, in wealth, culture or civilization to the Kiowas, they possess more of these attributes than is generally known. Among the young men and women of the tribes are many graduates of Carlisle, Hampton and other Indian schools, and they are doing good work in lifting their men and women to a higher plane.

The contention of those Indians who oppose the opening of the reservations is that some of the provisions of the treaty made nine years ago have been altered and the compact amended without being resubmitted to the tribes for approval. For one thing, the method of paying the Indians for their lands has been changed. The defenders of the changes contend that they have been made for the best interests of the Indians and with a view to their future prosperity. In any case it seems probable that the tribesmen have slept on their rights and that the matter has passed the point where interference or petition can avail anything.

The government has resurveyed the land and has made most of the preparations for throwing it open to white settlement. It is also claimed by some that, although a number of the Indians believe that they have been treated unjustly, the majority are not in favor of taking any drastic steps to prevent the opening and will quietly acquiesce in the decision of the government.

She Learned Quickly.

Bridget was just over and didn't understand the uses of the call bell, so her mistress explained that she was to come to her when she rang it. The next day mildady missed the bell. She called Bridget to inquire about it, and Bridget replied:

"Sure, mum, I have it, and when I want you I'll ring it."—New York Times.

A Canard.

A canard is a hoax. The original one was perpetrated by Cornelissen, who said that he had 20 ducks. He cut one up, and the 19 ate it. He cut another, and the 18 ate it, and so on until the last had eaten 19. The gullible public believed his story.

ICES IN SMALL QUANTITY.

How to Use a Freezer—Things to Learn About Creams and Ices.

Very likely the ice cream freezer in the reader's home is a machine capable of freezing three, four or five quarts. Set it away till a day when you entertain company and purchase a one quart freezer. In the summer a dessert can be prepared in the quart freezer with a piece of ice no larger than you put into the water pitcher simply by the aid of newspaper. Pound the ice almost to a mush, for in a small freezer there is little space between the bucket and the can. I made a bag out of an old rubber blanket. It is waterproof, and none of the moisture oozes away. I put the ice in the bag and reduce it with a large wooden mallet.

Before I begin to use the freezer I have the mixture to be frozen ready and perfectly cold. First I set the can in its place in the bucket. Then I fix the dasher in place, pour in the mixture, fit the can in the socket and turn the crank a few times to see if it is all right. Afterward I put in the ice and salt, allowing three measures of ice to one of salt. Measure it in a dipper and measure correctly, or you will not secure the correct degree of cold. If your supply of ice is limited, tear newspaper into bits and scatter it in small bunches through the ice and salt, tucking it in lavishly when you reach the top of the can. If you are making a frappe or mousse, mix equal parts of salt and ice.

Use a wooden spoon to pack the ice in solidly. Turn the crank slowly and steadily to expose as large a surface as possible to the ice and salt. When the crank begins to turn less easily, work faster, adding more salt and ice if necessary. Fifteen minutes' work generally freezes the contents of a quart can. When the crank has to be pushed laboriously, draw off the water, wipe every morsel of salt and ice from the lid, remove the dasher and with a spoon pack the frozen mixture solid. Put a cork that fits perfectly into the hole in the lid and rub with lard the edge of the cover and the place where it comes. That precaution allows no salt water to leak into the frozen mixture. Repack the freezer, this time using four measures of ice to one of salt, and allow the cream at least one hour to ripen. Cover it with an old blanket, a bit of carpet or newspapers.

To serve remove the can, hold it under a faucet and let cold water wash off all the salt and ice; then place either on a chilled platter or in small dishes. In warm weather I usually set the sherbet cups or ice cream saucers in the refrigerator before I begin serving a meal in which the ice forms a dessert.

There are various things to learn about creams and ices before freezing time begins. If you are using a quart can, never put in more than three half pints of a mixture. It will increase in bulk, and overcrowding a can makes a mess, as well as inviting salt to ooze in.

To the foregoing, in Good Housekeeping, the author appends a simple recipe for lemon ice and some further hints, as follows:

Make a sirup of two cups of boiling water and one cup of sugar, letting it boil 20 minutes. When you take it from the fire, add eight tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Allow it to cool, then freeze.

This ice may be elaborated by dotting it with slices of banana, Malaga grapes cut in two and candied cherries.

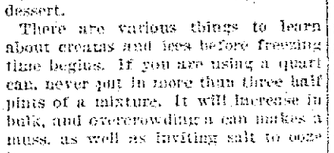

Orange ice is made in exactly the same way, using two cups of water, one cup of sugar, one cup of orange juice, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and the grated rind of a fine fresh orange. By using dark hued blood oranges you have a delicious pomegranate ice of a hue as lovely as the heart of a watermelon.

With Thread and Shuttle.

A pattern for the pretty collar points now so much worn occurs in The Designer:

Materials.—No. 70 lace thread, two shuttles and 15 inches of No. 2 satin ribbon.

Begin with the wheel and make it as follows: S p with 2 d s between, close, tie and cut the thread. Then 2 d s, p, 2 d s. Join to p of the ring, 2 d s, p, 2 d s, close, fasten on the second thread and make a chain of 4 d s, 5 p with 2 d s between, 4 d s. Alternate the rings and chains until eight of each are made, joining each ring to a p of the center.

Join three of the wheels into a group, as seen in the illustration, and in the space between make a four ringed figure, each ring of 7 d s, 5 p with 3 d s between, 7 d s, join 3 of the rings to the chains of the wheels. Make four of the groups of wheels and join two for each side of the collar.

Sew the lace to the ribbon, leaving one inch of space in front between the sections. Instead of the ribbon a narrow strip of lawn may be used, as a foundation, or a stock collar of velvet or silk may be made and the points tacked upon it. Cuff points may be made in the same way as those for the collar. Knitting silk may be used to make the points instead of thread, and the collar and cuffs may then be made in black or color.

Potato Chowder.

To make a potato chowder boil together seven potatoes and three small onions, and when they are done rub them through a strainer. A quart of milk should then be scalded and a tablespoonful of butter added and the potatoes stirred in.

Nasal CATARRH

In all its stages there should be cleanliness.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, soothes and heals the diseased membrane. It cures catarrh and drives away a cold in the head quickly.

Cream Balm is placed into the nostrils, spreads over the membrane and is absorbed. Relief is immediate and a cure follows. It is not drying—does not produce sneezing. Large Size, 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; Trial Size, 10 cents by mail.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Louisville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by Wm. M. ROOSEVELT IN REALITY.

Character and Aims as Seen by a Personal Friend.

TO RUN HIS OWN ADMINISTRATION

Illustrative Incidents Recalled From the President's Career—His Attitude Toward the Isthmian Canal. Revenue Question and Criticism. Typical Instance of His Sense of Humor.

The statement made the other day by President Roosevelt to his friends in Buffalo concerning his plans for the coming three years consisted of mere outlines, and behind so informal an utterance, writes the New York Post's special Washington correspondent. If any value attaches to the opinion of a personal friend of several years' standing, who has had exceptional opportunities to study him on a side which is not commonly turned toward the public, it would be pretty safe to fill in some of these outlines without waiting for the event.

The first great question with which the new president will have to deal will be that of the isthmian canal. His brief summary of his policy on this point is "the building and completion as soon as is possible of the isthmian canal, so as to give direct water communication with the coasts of Central America, South America and Mexico." In view of his assertion of his "aim to continue absolutely unbroken the policy of President McKinley for the peace, prosperity and honor of the country," it is assumed in many quarters that Mr. Roosevelt will make every effort to further the construction of a neutral canal.

With one modification this is probably correct. For commercial purposes he has always favored and will continue to favor the neutrality of the coming canal, but his idea is as fixed as ever that, for war purposes, neither our country nor any other or combination of others should guarantee the neutrality of this waterway. He doubtless realizes as fully as any one the improbability that any foreign nation would attempt to send her warships through the canal on a hostile errand, and on the general principle of not advocating the impracticable or providing against the inconceivable he would withhold guarantees which he expects never to see called into operation. The case presents itself to his mind like a grant in a general deed of conveyance of a right of way which in all human probability would never be used. Different persons would look at such a thing differently. One would argue that if the right were never to be used it would do no harm to grant it. His neighbor would retort that it is foolish to cloud a title with an incumbrance which is to be of no use to any one.

However, such a discussion is now academic. The canal treaty which will be sent to the senate next winter will contain the substance of all the senate amendments to the original Hay-Pauncefote treaty without their offensive form. This, it is believed, will satisfy every diplomatic demand on both sides of the water, and the canal will follow as soon as a decision can be reached upon the route and the requisite appropriation can be obtained from congress.

The next point likely to be raised concerns revenue reform. Here some clew to President Roosevelt's future conduct may be obtained by noting the course his education has taken. He was graduated from Harvard at a time when practically every man turned out from that institution was an ardent free trader, and he then held to his free trade doctrine as stanchly as the rest. But what we may call, for lack of a more satisfactory term, the "logic of events" made him afterward a protectionist, though leaving his mind in such an attitude that free trade appeals to it as the ideal condition toward which a logically controlled protective system must tend. In general terms, perhaps, the difference between him and the ordinary tariff reformer is that they are approaching the same economic end from opposite directions. It will be recalled that another New York Republican, raised suddenly from the second place in the government to the first, devoted a large share of two successive annual messages to tax reform, reminding congress, before he had been in the White House three months, that "we may well consider whether it is not the part of wisdom to reduce the revenues even if we delay a little the payment of the debt," and that "the time has arrived when the people may justly demand some relief from their present onerous burdens." President Roosevelt may be found agreeing with President Arthur that "the present tariff system is in many respects unjust. It makes unequal distribution both of its burdens and its benefits" and echoing his recommendation of "an enlargement of the free list so as to include within it the numerous articles which yield inconsiderable revenue, a simplification of the complex and inconsistent schedule of duties upon certain manufactures * * * and a substantial reduction of the duties upon those articles" and others. On the subject of reciprocity no one is more keenly alive to the advantages of an interchange of concessions with the countries with which we have commercial relations; but, on the other hand, no one appreciates more the difficulty of inducing a favorable vote on reciprocity treaties from a senate of which each member is looking out for the industries of his own state rather than for those of the country at large.

The Philippines problem cannot be solved for Mr. Roosevelt by any one else, nor would it be safe to say that he expects by the end of his three or four years in office to bring this to a definite and final solution. A better statement of his views would doubtless be that in the course of four years the Filipinos can be carried a long distance forward on their way toward self government. It is inconceivable that a man of Mr. Roosevelt's moral type would favor the retention of colonies merely for the sake of retaining them if majorities both of the colonists and of the citizens of the parent country frankly desired a separation. It is equally out of the question for any one who knows the workings of his mind to suppose him in favor of turning such a people as the Filipinos loose upon the sisterhood of nations till they have been instructed in the ways of self governing commonwealths. He would tell you that he is never an oppressor, always a civilizer, but he would hardly judge a people capable of passing intelligently upon the question of their permanent future form of government till they had tasted and tested what he regards as the ideal form.

What will be our new president's attitude toward criticism? That will depend upon its motive and its method. He has never had any quarrel with critics who attack his opinions or his politics or his mode of putting those policies in force, provided only that they tell the truth about him and abstain from imputing to him a dishonorable motive. No one has relished more keenly than he the satires and cartoons in which he has figured ever since he came into national prominence, but when writer or artist has assailed his honesty or tried to throw suspicion upon his worthiness of purpose all the warlike impulses within him have sought expression at the surface. His enemy may condemn his projects as foolish, his logic as juvenile, his appearance, words and manners as ludicrous, and he is ready to shake hands and break bread with the censor five minutes later, but the man who hints that he is a hypocrite or a reame finds a very ugly and quite unappeasable antagonist in him from that day forth.

Mr. Roosevelt is a democrat with a small "d." It will surprise no one to see him in a few weeks walking the streets of Washington as freely as Lincoln and Grant did. He has always lived his own life and chosen his own friends in defiance of the carpers. Some persons have accused him of being theatrical in his methods. If this charge be true, the tendency is as natural in him as his sense of humor, and that is simply irrepressible. He is certainly not without a sharp eye for dramatic effect, but this more often shows itself in some isolated act designed to convey a lesson than in one which is merely incidental to his general course of conduct. A typical instance occurred when Dr. Ahlwardt, the anti-Semitic agitator from Berlin, visited New York in 1895. Mr. Roosevelt was then police commissioner, and not a few of the New York anti-Semites came to him to warn lest the Jews should arise and mob the orator on the night of his first address. The commissioner's response was to select from the whole police force a squad of Hebrews whose physiognomy bespoke their race most conspicuously. These officers he placed in charge of the hall where Ahlwardt was to appear, with a reminder that in this country of free speech they could show their good citizenship in no more striking manner than by protecting the very man who had come to hurl contempt and abuse at their people. The effect of this bit of comedy, worthy of a Gilbert, was to make Ahlwardt ridiculous and cause his whole crusade to fall pitifully flat.

There has been some curiosity among the politicians to know who is going to "run" the new administration. Some have been unkind enough in their feeling toward Senator Lodge to suggest that he might attempt the task. Obviously they know neither their proposed runner nor his "runnee." Three years from now they will probably wake up to the fact that the Roosevelt administration has been run throughout by a man named Theodore Roosevelt.

GRAVE FOR POET.

Marble Seat to Be Raised In Memory of Daniel O'Connell.

The memory of Daniel O'Connell, one of the group of poets whose songs have been so typical of California's cloudless blue skies, is to have a fitting memorial, says a San Francisco dispatch to the New York Evening World. On a lofty hill in the suburb of Sausalito, where O'Connell had his home for many years, a simple marble seat is to be erected. On the back of the seat the words of his poem, "The Chamber of Sleep," will be carved.

O'Connell was a lineal descendant of the great Irish liberator. He served for some years in the English navy and in the early sixties came to San Francisco aboard a British man-of-war. He resigned while at San Francisco and became a journalist. He was an ideal Bohemian until his death, a year ago.

Yazoo Delta the Negroes' Mecca.

In speaking of Mississippi as showing a larger increase of negroes than whites it would be better to say that this is true only of a part of the state, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. The Yazoo delta has become the greater Mecca of the negroes, and there they have flocked not only from the hill counties, but from the neighboring states, Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas. They have been pouring in for the last dozen or twenty years, ever since the protection of the delta from overflow has been assured. There have been several exoduses from the hills to the bottoms of such great proportions as to alarm the farmers in the hill country lest they might be left without sufficient labor for their crops. If this movement of population keeps on, it will have a tendency in time to whiten the rest of Mississippi by concentrating the bulk of negroes in the Yazoo delta.

NEW YORK'S POLICE CHIEF.

Devery, the Home Man, as His Daughter Knows Him.

Miss Devery, daughter of the "Big Chief" Devery of the New York police force, who was recently arrested, is a feminine edition of the chief. She is generous in outline and plump, with a large breezy manner that lends emphasis to what she says. And when she tells you that she knows her father and that he can do no wrong you believe her.

Devery's home in New York looks like him. Everything is big and in the foreground, says the New York Evening Journal. The parlor is big and in a high light. The chairs were built for big people. There are no spider legged affairs made to be seen and not sat upon. Mrs. Devery was not in, but Miss Devery was:

"I am proud of him," she said, with an aggressive toss of her pretty head as if, possibly, she anticipated a contradiction. "He is one man in a thousand. I know him. Other people do not.

"I am not a bit worried about him," she went on, sitting down squarely in one of the sturdy armchairs. "He's well able to take of himself and anything that may happen to him."

She was asked about his home life.

"He always notices what we are all wearing. He always tells me what he likes and what he doesn't like. He likes me in brown, and he likes me in evening dress. And if one's hair happens not to be just neat he speaks of it in a minute. But he is so nice in his home. You don't know what an interest he takes in everything. He loves to have everything nice. He likes to see the rooms looking just so and to have the table just the way he likes it, and although he has so little time he notices everything. But he doesn't fuss about what doesn't suit him. He is so easy to please—you don't know.

"We always breakfast together, all of us—mother and Florence and I. Florence is young—she is in school yet—and father is very fond of her. He is always in a hurry in the morning, but he never talks business then. Then he is gone all day, and often he is so busy he doesn't get home to dinner and sometimes not till very late. Of course he never gets here at noon. He lunches down town when he lunches at all; but, you know, a good many days he is so busy he doesn't get time to have luncheon at all. He has a very hard life."

And after leaving Miss Devery somehow you thought better of the chief.

CLEVELAND'S NEW HOME.

Plain Looking Residence For the Ex-President at Princeton.

Former President Grover Cleveland is having a plain, democratic residence built for his use at Princeton, N. J., that is to cost not quite $8,000, says the New York Journal. Mr. Cleveland expects to get into his new house by the holidays.

The structure is what is known as a "plaster house"—that is to say, it is a frame building plastered inside and outside. The usual coats of plaster will soon be spread on the interior walls upon wire lath which rest upon paper sheathing.

Then upon the outside of the studding is another surface of rough boards, which in turn is covered with building paper of the impervious kind, and upon this paper the wire lath are fastened. Plaster of a beautiful gray shade is smeared over this to the depth of an inch or more. This outside plaster surface will take a coat of paint later on.

The latticed windows are very wide, both on the ground floor and in the second story. The front portico is colonnaded with two square plaster columns and four round wooden columns, and the entrance thus formed to the front door is very imposing.

Another striking peculiarity of this building is the roof. It is made mostly of bright red tiles and can be distinguished at a great distance. It will be remembered that the last residence of Mr. Cleveland in Washington while he was president had a roof covered with shingles which were stained such a brilliant color that the house soon became known as Red Top.

This appellation, assuming a national character, clung to the house after Mr. Cleveland disposed of the property. The new dwelling will, therefore, to please Mr. Cleveland's predilection for bright colors, be known as Crimson Top, the roof tiles are of such bright hue.

The cost of the house, under $8,000, indicates that much of the expense has been appropriated to the interior.

Coming of the Fall.

By the day that shorter grows,
By the night with lengthened close,
By the sky that seems less blue,
By the clouds of somber hue,
By these signs—yes, by them all—
We note the coming of the fall.

By the sighing of the trees,
By the dropping of the leaves,
By the garners full of grain,
By the stubble on the plain,
By the harvest gathered all
We note the coming of the fall.

By the aspect growing drear,
By the grasses turning sear,
By the flowers that droop and fade,
By Old Sol less bright arrayed,
By the air in hut and hall
We note the coming of the fall.

By the birds that southward fly,
By the brook that hurries by,
By the threatening whippoorwill
Sounding note that bodeth ill,
By the quail's familiar call
We note the coming of the fall.

By the goldenrod alight,
By the sumac red and bright,
By the cardinals ablow,
By the lilies lying low,
By the reeds now rank and tall
We note the coming of the fall.

By fair summer's requiem song,
By Dame Nature's plaintive tongue,
By the sobbing of the rain,
By our hearts that join the strain,
By the joys we would recall
We note the coming of the fall.

Seek Relief!

The great proportion of women who suffer never make a serious effort to benefit themselves. The most of them go on paying no attention to their little menstrual disorders, believing they will eventually wear off. They grow worse and worse every day. At the period of menstruation a woman is peculiarly susceptible to cold and other external influences and it is also the most favorable time for the development of hidden disease germs which may be lurking in the system. Any physician knows that disordered menstruation, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea are blighting lives in almost every home. No woman should neglect herself a moment after she sees indications of female diseases. Almost instant relief can be secured by the use of

WINE OF CARDUI

It will relieve you right in your own home. Will you accept the testimony of Mrs. Beigler and thousands of other women and really seek relief today? All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

160 Chicago Street, Fort Wayne, Ind., March 27, 1900.

Your Wine of Cardui has done a world of good for me. I have used five bottles of the Wine and one package of Thedford's Black-Draught. And since I have started to use it I will not be without it in the house. It helped my sister in Toledo, who did not menstruate as she ought. She was sixteen years of age and nothing else helped her. I was in a very bad state myself before I used your medicines, but I found relief in three days. And now I feel like a new woman and do all my housework and washing, which I could not do before I took Wine of Cardui. I would be very glad to write any poor woman and tell her how I suffered before I used Wine of Cardui.

COL. KILBOURNE

Will be the Guest of the Allen County Fair Board.

He Will Reach Lima at About Eleven O'clock Tomorrow Morning and Will Remain Until 4:20 P. M.

This morning C. D. Crites, member of the Democratic State Executive committee received the following telegram from Colonel Kilbourne, the Democratic candidate for governor of the state of Ohio:

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 24, 1901.

HON. C. D. CRITES, Lima, Ohio.

I will leave Columbus over the Hocking Valley railroad at 9:10 Thursday morning, and will arrive in Lima at 11:33, returning at 4:20 p. m.

JAMES KILBOURNE.

When Colonel Kilbourne arrives he will be driven directly to the fair ground where he will be placed in charge of the fair board and will be introduced to the people by President William Rusler and will deliver a short address on industrial lines. He will take dinner on the grounds and will mingle with the people until train time.

Colonel Kilbourne will be accompanied to Lima by Hon. W. L. Finley, of Kenton, member of the State Executive committee, who will join Mr. Kilbourne at Kenton. He will remain with him in this city until 3:24.

CONFERENCE

Will be Held in Ada Commencing Tomorrow

And Continuing the Balance of the Week.

Much Anxiety is Felt Concerning the Ministers Who Will be Returned to the Different Lima Churchs.

Tomorrow the Central Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference meets in annual session in Ada, and will continue the remainder of the week. The opening session will commence at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Presiding Elder Mills, and Rev. Figley, of Trinity church, Rev. Leathermas, of Grace church, and Rev. Anderson, of Epworth church, will be in attendance at the conference.

There is a great deal of interest felt among the membership of the different Methodist churches in this city as to what ministers will be placed in charge. All the congregation hope for the return of the ministers who have been here for the past year, but there is no certainty that the Bishop will send them to their former assignments.

It is hoped by all that Rev. Mills will be returned as presiding elder. He has filled that position for two years to the great satisfaction of all, and under the laws of the Methodist church, he may be continued in that position for the period of six years.

SURVEYORS

Begin Their Work on the Lima-Findlay Line.

John P. S. Reigle has accepted the position of engineer for the Western Ohio Railway company and will have charge of the construction work of the company between this city and Lima. The work started yesterday morning, when Mr. Reigle and Engineer Elmer Bolton start from this city and survey the route. The tracks are laid through the corporation of the village of Bluffton, but that is all the work that has been done between Lima and Findlay. The right of way has been all practically secured.

The line will run straight along the highway on private right of way, and will not touch the town of Rawson or Mt. Cory, although running near them. The work will be rushed as rapidly as possible.—Findlay Republican.

Remember that the fair lasts over Saturday and don't forget the cake walk on that day.

WELL KNOWN

In Findlay was the Late Nathan M. Abbott.

N. M. Abbott who died suddenly in church at Lima Sunday, was well known in Findlay, says the Findlay Republican of that city, having been employed in the pattern department of Heck & Marvin's machine works the last four months. He worked last week as usual and as his custom on Saturday, left for Lima to spend Sunday at his home. When Mr. Abbott left Saturday, he appeared in perfect health and the news of his death was a severe blow to the employes of Heck & Marvin's establishment as well as to his other friends. While in Findlay he resided with his son, George N. Abbott, the pattern maker.

ALL

Previous Records Broken.

The First Day

Of the Fair Starts Off With a Whirl

And There is Every Assurance That the Week Will be a Good One.

The Grounds Today Presented a Lively Appearance, Made so by the Hundreds of Children in Attendance.

If today is an indication of what is to be expected in point of attendance, all previous records of fair week will be broken and the finances will foot up handsomely on the right side of the ledger. The grounds at ten o'clock was a sea of happy faces for the children were there in full force, while the older folks turned out in greater numbers than on any previous Wednesday. The representation from the country was particularly large and the grove packed with vehicles of every description. For two hours there was a constant stream of buggies and carriages pouring through the gates and both of the tenders were kept busy taking tickets, while the fair policemen had all they could do to keep the procession moving. It needed but one glance to see that the fair had started with an assurrance of a large attendance and the management is happy in consequence.

It is the same familiar scene although on a much larger scale. The lively tunes of the merry-go-round organ is the first greeting the visitors receive, then there is the man with the rubber balloon, the man with his nerve and the rag babies that are a tempting target at three throws for five—all the indispensible adjuncts in fact without which it wouldn't be a perfect fair.

The sale of privileges was large as the many refreshment stands which dot the grounds indicate and there are also several of the side attractions under canvas that will rake in the sheckles.

Art hall never offered a more tempting sight than this year, and the exhibitors deserve to be congratulated for their successful attempt to display artistic ideas in the arrangement of their booths. There is not a vacant spot on the first floor, and upstairs the exhibit of fancy work and paintings is far ahead of any previous effort. Dr. Steuber's collection from the Philippines is an attraction that holds the crowd and the doctor himself is a regular dictionary of information on matters concerning our new cousins and the recently acquired territory.

There is but one department that falls short of last year and that is the poultry, the exhibit being unusually small in this section. J. G. Mackenzie has on display some fine specimens of the Belgian hare.

The exhibit of horses and other stock is grand, and being crowded for space to properly show them the directors had to use the big barn of A. A. Scott. Among the exhibitors are G. W. Delsover of Delphos, who has several pens of Oxford Down sheep; Isaac McClain, of Yoder, Shropshire; G. E. Helser, of Herring, Delaines and Merinos; P. F. Heidelbaugh, of Delphos, Hampshire Downs, and Polled Durham cattle; T. L. Helser, of near Ada, Shropshire; and Samuel Hauenstein, of Bluffton, Poland China hogs.

A. Roberts, has eleven head of full blood double standard Polled Durham cattle from Shadeland stock farm, with a prize bull weighing 2605 pounds.

J. A. Bowdle, of South Warsaw, has eight head of the same breed; Wm. Hixenbaugh, of Shawnee, seven head and S. W. Frauenfelter, seven head of short horns. Mr. Hixenbaugh has a yearling bull which captured the red ribbon at this year's state fair.

Work on the speed ring put the track in good condition for the races which began this afternoon and although the course is a little hard, there will be some fast time made, especially in the events tomorroy afternoon. All of the entries are filled and the race program is pronounced the best the association has ever offered.

Fair Notes.

One of the best represented farmers in the county is the John H. Berryman farm in Shawnee township. Mr. Berryman has many fine hogs in the fair pens and among other animals an exceptionally handsome draft horse.

ANOTHER

Debate on the Building Proposition.

Board of Education Held a Special Meeting

But Adjourned to Meet Again Next Thursday Evening—No Decision Has Yet Been Reached.

The prolonged discussion at the board of education Monday evening was continued last night at a special meeting called for the purpose of finally considering the proposition to build additions to the Spring street and Elizabeth street buildings, but owing to architect Leech being unable to furnish the board some necessary estimates just at the moment, the matter was again postponed and another special meeting will be held Thursday evening.

The first estimated cost of the Spring street addition was $15,000, but the building and repairs committee went over the specifications carefully and last night reported that by certain changes the cost could be whittled down a couple of thousand dollars. The Elizabeth street addition will cost about $6,500.

Mr. Cramer offered a motion last night providing for the purchase of a Crowell aparatus for use in the study of chemestry at a cost of $350 and the board sanctioned the outlay of the amount required.

DELEGATES

Selected at Lima Presbytery Yesterday

To Represent That Body in Synod of Ohio,

Which Will be Held in Dayton Next Month, Include Two Lima Men, Rev. R. J. Thomson and A. S. Creps.

Revds R. J. Thomson and W. G. Smith, with elders A. S. Creps, of Market street and Chas. Schrader, of Main street church, returned from the meeting of Lima Presbytery at Monticello yesterday evening. Rev. R. J. Thomson and A. S. Creps were elected delegates to the meeting of the Synod of Ohio to be held at Dayton beginning October 7. The spring meeting of Lima Presbytery will be held at Market street church, Lima, April 10, 11, 1902. A series of extra religious services will be held during the coming winter in four groups of churches throughout the Presbytery. The group in which Lima is placed includes Findlay and Ada with other churches of the vicinity. The meetings will be conducted by the ministers of the Presbytery, visiting all the churches despiring meetings, in turn. They will do the work heretofore done by evangelists. The plan is widely followed in the Presbyterian church.

Go to the fair Saturday and choose your favorites in the big cake walk.

NEW CHURCH

At Findlay Will be Dedicated Next Sunday.

Rev. R. J. Thomson, of Lima, and Dr. Lee, of Cincinnati, Will Preach the Sermons.

The handsome new Presbyterian church of Findlay will be dedicated next Sunday. The dedicatory sermons will be preached by Rev. Dr. E. T. Lee, of Cincinnati and Rev. R. J. Thomson, D. D., of Lima. Rev. Thomson will officiate in his own church, Market street, Sunday morning. The new edifice at Findlay is one of the finest in this part of Ohio. The church is now worshipping in the assembly room of the new High school building, which was erected at Findlay one year ago.

CLUBS

Are Trump in the Police Games.

The Successor

To Officer Shook Lands a Young Man.

Blood Flowed Freely Before the Rough House Game was Out.

The Bruised Prisoner was Fined Two Dollars and Costs This Morning—Other Cases in Mayor's Court.

Clubs seem to be trump in the police game, and the police "m-ace" is the high card. Two men who have been against the game will testify to the truthfulness of that statement and if their word should be doubted there are marks on their heads which will substantiate their testimony. Jake Shook played his "m-ace" with Hank O'Neil for the trick a few nights ago and in consequence is under suspension from duty pending an investigation of his case. Charley Fenstemaker, an extra policeman, who is doing night duty as a patrolman "buckeled" into a husky young fellow last night and from the appearance of the latter's head he will bear conclusive evidence for some time of the fact that a policeman's club is harder than a man's cranium.

Special officer Fenstemaker is an ex-saloonkeeper whom Mayor McComb appointed to do regular duty in officer Shook's place after he had suspended the latter for knocking Hank O'Neil senseless with his club. Fenstemaker took charge of Shook's beat on the north side and about 10 o'clock last night was called upon to arrest Theodore Rice, a young man 22 years of age, who while under the influence of liquor was creating a disturbance and flourishing a revolver. It is alleged that young Rice assaulted the officer and that the latter was forced to use his club in order to demonstrate the dignity of the law and as a result, Rice was landed at the police station with an ugly gash and an unusually large "shanty" over one of his eyes. He was covered with blood and the bruised "lamp" was closed on account of the holiday. He was relieved of his revolver and was locked up with the charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct placed against him.

This morning the prisoner's bruised head was so swollen that he could hardly get through the prison door, but he was taken before Mayor McComb and was fined $2 and costs for being hit.

Two strangers who gave their names as Dan and James Roloson were arrested in the C. H. & D. yards last night by officer Goebel and Grant. They were locked up on suspicion and were released this morning.

The versatile Boston Tom was arrested by officer Cacome this morning on a charge of drunkenness.

Bashford, of the Ohio Wesleyan University. An elaborate wedding breakfast at the home of B. C. Faurot, followed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner will make their home in Sandusky, Mr. Turner being employed in the service of the L. E. & W. railroad.

A JUDGE'S WIFE

CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH

She Suffered for Years and Felt Her Case Was Hopeless—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

MRS. JUDGE MCALLISTER.

Mrs. Judge McAllister writes from 1217 West 33rd st., Minneapolis, Minn., as follows:

"I suffered for years with a pain in the small of my back and right side. It interfered often with my domestic and social duties and I never supposed that I would be cured, as the doctor's medicine did not seem to help me any.

"Fortunately a member of our Order advised me to try Peruna and gave it such high praise that I decided to try it. Although I started in with little faith, I felt so much better in a week that I felt encouraged.

"I took it faithfully for seven weeks and am happy indeed to be able to say that I am entirely cured. Words fail to express my gratitude. Perfect health once more is the best thing I could wish for, and thanks to Peruna I enjoy that now."—MINNIE E. McALLISTER.

What used to be called female diseases by the medical profession is now called pelvic catarrh. It has been found by experience that catarrhal diseases of the pelvic organs are the cause of most cases of female disease.

Dr. Hartman was among the first of America's great physicians to make this discovery. For forty years he has been treating diseases peculiar to women, and long ago he reached the conclusion that a woman entirely free from catarrhal affection of these organs would not be subject to female disease. He therefore began using Peruna for these cases and found it so admirably adapted to their permanent cure that Peruna has now become the most famous remedy for female disease ever known. Everywhere the women are using it and praising it. Peruna is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female disease.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female ailments than any other living physician. He makes these cures simply by using and recommending Peruna.

Miss Phoebe Cary Sheffield, writes from Seguin, Texas, as follows:

"I have followed your directions and treatment, and will always thank you for your kindness. Your medicine is the only medicine that gave me relief from heavy pains in my chest, on account of which I could hardly rest at night. Several of my friends thought I would go into consumption. I now think I am well, but will always have a bottle of Peruna in the house. I think Peruna is the best medicine in the world, for I went to my home doctors and they never did me any good, but when I took your medicine it did me all the good in the world. I have recommended your wonderful treatment to my friends. Since I have taken Peruna I look like a new woman."—Miss P. C. Sheffield.

Mrs. William Kenning, Mt. Clemens, Mich., writes:

"I am happy to be able to write you that I am now again well. I was not well for a year, and did not know what ailed me. Last fall I got a bottle of Peruna. It did me good. I wrote to Dr. Hartman for a book 'Ills of Life,' and he luckily sent me a book about my disease.

"My disease was catarrh of the head, eyes, stomach and liver, and he said if I would follow his advice I would soon be well. I followed the directions closely, and am now entirely well."—Mrs. William Kenning.

Congressman Thad. M. Mahon, of Chambersburg, Pa., writes:

"I take pleasure in commending your Peruna as a substantial tonic and a good catarrh remedy."—T. M. Mahon.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.
